Baby Bottle Campaign

In years prior, Amy came to LifeSpring with unsure, and scared. But during uncertainty, she made a life-affirming decision—she chose to keep her child. In the years that followed, LifeSpring became an important part of her journey.

Time after time, she came back to LifeSpring for STI testing. And over and over again always facing the reality that her boyfriend, who was often unfaithful and dismissive of her value, wasn't treating her the way she deserved to be treated.

Despite knowing this, Amy stayed. She loved him, or at least she thought she did, and hoped that things would change. She wasn't sure of her worth, and the constant cycle of pain and betrayal made it hard to see any other way forward.

Then, one day, her world collapsed. Amy's boyfriend, was gone. Amy reached out to LifeSpring—not just for the familiar testing, but for counsel, for someone to help her process the storm of emotions she now faced. Amy felt like her world had fallen apart. With nowhere to turn, Amy remembered LifeSpring. Amy was once again told of her value and her worth in Christ. Finally, the messages she had heard time and time again had clicked. Through Bible studies and prayer, Amy began to see herself through a new lens.

She wasn't just someone who had been abandoned or betrayed; she was a child of God, deeply loved and cherished. She recognized that her value didn't come from the approval or affection of a man, but from her identity in Christ. She wasn't going to settle for anything less than God's best for her life. At LifeSpring, it is our desire to help our clients recognize the joy and importance of honoring the Lord with their sexuality. We pray that they see their great need for Christ, because He is the only One who can truly satisfy their deepest longings to be known and loved.
